Introduction

SSI is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) as a broker-dealer and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC). Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ and it is important for you to understand these differences. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We are a limited purpose broker-dealer and conduct business in real estate related securities. The firm was formed to act as a placement agent or best efforts underwriter for debt and/or equity securities, private placements, tenant in common interests, and limited partner interests. SSI conducts retail business where it directly sells securities to the investing public and is also in the business of wholesaling to various soliciting broker-dealer firms or investment advisor firms. We offer securities that are sponsored by Shopoff Realty Investments, L.P. (SRI) and Integris Realty Investments ("IRE") and do not perform any type of clearing function for itself or others. We are affiliated with SRI and IRE and under common ownership. SSI accepts investments from new investors in the investment funds that have been identified, qualified, and introduced by the soliciting broker/dealer firms or registered investment adviser firms, in each case pursuant to soliciting dealer agreements or investment adviser introductory agreement with these firms, as the case may be. All accepted investment transactions are forwarded to a transfer agent. The transfer agent tracks, records, and confirms the investments and the investor ownership percentage allocations in most of the investment funds, and handles all aspects of the investment distributions to the investors. Occasionally, SSI sells securities that are processed on a subscription basis internally and held directly with the sponsor, and not a transfer agent. Furthermore, we do not hold customer funds or securities, do not carry accounts of or for retail investors, and do not manage or monitor a retail investors account.

Questions to ask your financial professional:

- ◆ How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- ◆ What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education, and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

What fees will I pay?

As part of your investment decision making process, we feel that it is important for you to know the fees and costs that you will incur for your specific investment, including how frequently they are assessed and the conflicts of interest they create. We provide transaction-specific recommendations and receive a commission on a transaction-by-transaction basis every time you invest. The commission, which can also be called a sales load or sales charge, is typically paid at the time of the sale and can reduce the amount available to invest.

When investing in a debt and/or equity securities, private placements, tenant in common interests, and limited partner interests, there will be additional fees and expenses incurred, such as a dealer-manager fee, general partner fee, asset management fees, acquisition and disposition fees, construction fees, developer fees, and loan origination fees. These fees, and possibly others, are automatically taken out of your investment.

For additional information regarding the fees and expenses for your specific investment, please refer to the Private Placement Memorandum (PPM).

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time.

Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.***

Questions to ask your financial professional:

- ◆ Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when providing recommendations? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we provide you with a recommendation, we must act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they affect the recommendations we provide you.

Here are some examples to help you understand what this means.

Affiliated Compensation – SSI, SRI, and IRE are affiliated entities under common ownership, which in and of itself creates an inherent conflict of interest. When you make an investment with SSI, any and all of the entities and its ownership benefit financially.

Proprietary Products – SSI primarily offers proprietary products that are managed, issued, and/or sponsored by SRI and IRE, which places a material limitation on our recommendations to you. We recommend you independently research other investment opportunities to ensure this investment is best for you.

Common Ownership - SSI, any of its qualified registered representatives and "friends and family" as defined in the specific PPM may purchase the same investment as our clients in accordance with our compliance procedures. This ownership stake in the investment being offered creates an inherent conflict of interest.

For additional information regarding other conflicts of interest for your specific investment, please refer to the Private Placement Memorandum (PPM).

Questions to ask your financial professional:

- ◆ How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?
- ◆ How does the fact that there are relationships among the various parties involved in the development of the investment property affect my investment?

How Do Your Financial Professionals Make Money?

SSI's registered representatives are also employees of SRI. SSI and SRI have entered into an expense sharing agreement. The compensation for SSI's registered representatives include two components: base pay and commission. The amount each representative receives is generally determined by the representative's role, responsibilities, and performance measures. At times our registered representative may receive bonuses based on individual revenue produced, or overall profits of the firm.

To mitigate any further conflicts of interest, we do not have sales contests, sales quotas, and/or non-cash compensation that are based on the sale of a specific investment opportunity.

Do you or your financial professionals have legal or disciplinary history?

Yes, we and/or some of our financial professionals have some form of legal or disciplinary history.
